PAWS FOR THE CAMERA

Some snapshots of DRUE dogs out and about. Thank you to the wonderful DRUE team for taking some great photos!

KRAL

Kral arrived with us from Turkey on the 28th of June, despite some travel problems he is doing really well. He has a lovely calm nature and is fine with other dogs but does not like cats. He gets on well with everyone he has met including children despite this and due to him being found in a Turkish shelter with no background a home with dog savvy children from 12 upwards would be better. He can be a bit nervous when he first meets new people but he soon settles. We are told he is house trained, walks well on the lead, is non reactive to dogs on the lead and travels really well no stress or anxiety from him.

His rescuers got him the harness along with the green collar which has a sad story attached to it, Kral was given the collar by his rescuer as it belonged to another dog who sadly didn't make it out of the shelter, the collar now flies free with Kral in memory of a friend that did not make it. We hope he will leave for a foster home soon.

If you are interested in giving Kral a home please do get in touch.

THE AMERICAN DOBE

As a UK-based Doberman rescue, we mostly work with European Dobermanns. With the 4th of July in mind, we thought it would be fun to shine a light on their American cousins and explore how they compare. Although the Doberman originated in Germany, different breeding priorities emerged as the breed spread around the world. In the United States, breeders placed greater emphasis on producing dogs suited to family life and the show ring, leading to what we now know as the American Doberman Pinscher.

American Dobermanns are generally lighter in build, with a more refined, elegant appearance than the sturdier European type. They are also often described as affectionate, people-focused, and eager to please, while European lines are more commonly bred with working and sporting ability in mind.

Of course, every Doberman is an individual. Training, socialisation, and life experiences have just as much influence on temperament as breeding, and we see that every day in rescue.

At DRUE, our focus is always on the dog in front of us. Whether European, American, or somewhere in between, every Doberman deserves the right home, understanding, and the chance to thrive.

This 4th of July, we're celebrating the American Doberman as another wonderful expression of the same remarkable breed. Loyal, intelligent, and devoted to their people, wherever they come from.

LUGA

Luga is a 7-year-old neutered boy looking for a loving forever home after his foster family were sadly unable to adopt him.

Luga came into DRUE after needing emergency treatment for bladder stones. Following successful surgery and recovery, he later developed a blockage and underwent a second operation to create a new opening so he could urinate normally. More recently, he has been diagnosed with mild DCM. He is doing well on a fresh food diet to help prevent bladder crystals from returning, and although his Demodex has now cleared, some of his hair has yet to fully grow back. DRUE will continue to cover all costs relating to his bladder condition, DCM and Demodex.

Despite everything he has been through, Luga is an affectionate, friendly boy who is incredibly easy to live with. He doesn't beg for food, counter surf or guard his meals, is happy being handled and wearing a coat, and settles well when left alone for a few hours, usually sleeping until you're home. He travels well in the car, sleeps soundly through the night and is a clever, eager-to-please boy who enjoys learning new commands. Although he'll let you know when someone is at the door, he greets visitors politely once they're inside. Out on walks, Luga is a pleasure to be with. He walks well on the lead, although he can pull a little when he's excited, and he generally ignores other dogs without showing any reactivity.

Off lead in a secure garden, Luga's playful side really shines. He loves to chase anything that moves, from squirrels and pheasants to cats and even buzzing bees, so he has been muzzle trained to help protect local wildlife. Offer him his favourite toy, though, and he's more than happy to settle down for a game instead.

We are looking for a kind, stable home where Luga can finally enjoy the happy, carefree life he deserves. His foster family feel he may be able to live happily with a calm female dog. If you think you could offer this very special boy the forever home he's been waiting for, we'd love to hear from you.

July 30th is a time to celebrate International Friendship Day, a reminder of the incredible difference a true friend can make. And for many of us, one of our greatest friends has four paws.

Dobermanns are renowned for their unwavering loyalty, intelligence, and loving nature. They form incredibly strong bonds with their families and are happiest when they're by your side, whether that's enjoying a countryside walk, relaxing at home, or simply keeping you company through life's ups and downs. Their devotion and affection make them much more than just pets, they become trusted companions and lifelong friends.

Every Dobermann in our rescue is looking for that special friendship. Some have had difficult starts in life, but with patience, understanding, and love, they blossom into faithful companions who give back far more than they receive. Every dog has their own personality, and we take great care to match each one with the right family so that both dog and adopter can enjoy a lifetime of friendship together.

This International Friendship Day, why not celebrate the unique bond between humans and dogs? Whether you adopt, foster, volunteer, donate, or simply share our posts, you're helping our Dobermanns find the loyal friendship they deserve.

Because every Dobermann deserves a best friend
... and perhaps yours is waiting to meet you.

THINKING ABOUT ADOPTING?

Many people worry that they won't be the perfect fit for a rescue dog, but every Doberman is different. We take great care to match the right dog with the right family and lifestyle.

Some of our dogs are happy to live with other dogs, cats, or children, while others will thrive in a quieter home with experienced owners or a peaceful rural setting. We'll always be honest about each dog's needs and work with you to find the best possible match. If you've been thinking about adopting but aren't sure where to start, we'd love to hear from you. Get in touch for a friendly chat and let us help you find the right companion.

While we take great care to assess every dog during the surrender process and throughout their time in our care, all of our dogs are rescue dogs. In many cases, we cannot know their complete history or every experience they've had before coming to us. Although we do our very best to understand each dog's personality, behaviour and needs, we cannot guarantee how they may respond in every situation or environment.

We are always open and honest about what we know, and we ask adopters to appreciate that every rescue dog needs time, patience and understanding as they settle into their new home.

WISH LIST

Spotlight

★ DRIED SPRATS ★

Dried sprats are one of the most valuable treats we can give our Dobermanns. They are packed with natural protein and omega-3 fatty acids, which help support healthy skin, shiny coats, strong joints, and overall wellbeing. Because they're a single-ingredient, natural treat, they're ideal for many of our rescue dogs, including those with sensitive stomachs or food allergies. We use dried sprats for training, building trust with nervous dogs, and rewarding positive behaviour, making them an essential part of their rehabilitation. Donations of dried sprats help us provide healthy, nutritious rewards while giving our dogs the encouragement they need as they learn to feel safe, confident, and ready for their forever homes.
